DISMISSED

Was the Suit of John W. Flora Against the Longworth Estate.

It Was the Most Sensational Suit Ever
Filed in the U. S. District Court

At Cincinnati and Attracted Widespread Attention—Flora Claimed to Be the Illegitimate Son of Mrs. Eliza Flag, Daughter of Old Nicholas Longworth and Wanted One-Sixth of His Estate.

By Telegram to THE TIMES.
Cincinnati, O., June 26.—In the United States district court today Judge Sage rendered a decision in one of the most sensational suits ever heard in that court, and one which attracted wide-spread attention.

The suit was that of John W. Flora against the executors of the estate of Nicholas Longworth. Longworth was one of the oldest citizens of Cincinnati, and his estate was valued away up in the millions.

Flora claimed a one-sixth interest in the estate. He based his claim on the assertion that he was the illegitimate son of Mrs. Eliza J. Flag, a daughter of Mr. Longworth. Flora claimed that he was recognized by Mr. Longworth and hired to keep quiet and that he drew a certain sum each year for many years and lived in retirement.

In an elaborate review of the case,
Judge Sage today dismissed the case,
all costs to be settled by the plaintiff.
He held that the evidence gave no shadow of support to the claim of the plaintiff, but that on the contrary it fully vindicated the good name of the lady whose reputation was attacked.
He therefore ordered the case stricken from the docket.

A BIG LIBEL SUIT

A Portsmouth Citizen Who Will Sue the Cincinnati Times-Star for $50,000
Damages.

The Cincinnati Times-Star yesterday contained a special from Hamilton, in which serious allegations were made against H. E. Rice, a young man who is at present canvassing this city for Ashhall's publishing house of New Jersey. The Hamilton special stated that Rice was a fraud and that he had solicited subscriptions in Hamilton for a musical publication, collecting the pay in advance. Since then neither he nor his paper had been heard from, the special said.

The special was a falsehood from beginning to end and Mr. Rice was unable to account for its publication. He is well known in Hamilton and is a very nice gentleman in every respect.
He is at once called on Hon. A. C.
Thompson and stated his case and showed his credentials. Mr. Thompson informed him that he had good grounds for a damage suit, and Mr.
Rice concluded to bring one at once.
He left for Cincinnati on the C. & P.
V. this afternoon armed with a letter of introduction from Mr. Thompson to Hon. J. J. Glidden. The latter will prepare the case and sue the Times-Star and the correspondent for $50,000
damages.

SCORE CARD PRIVILEGES

A Portsmouth Firm That Will Look After the Cards of a Large Number of Fairs
This Summer.

Roy McElhany and J. M. Hannahs, who have been "doing" various county fairs in the state for several years, working the score card privilege, expect to engage in the business on a larger scale than ever this season.

They have already secured the privileges for the fairs at Portsmouth, Chillicothe, Circleville, Washington O. H., Sandusky, Springfield and Toledo. The probabilities are that they will also secure the fair at Zanesville and other counties in that section of the state. By shrewd management and hard work they expect to make a good thing out of the privileges they have secured. The firm, in striking contrast with the usual run of score card people, always treat the fair managers square, and in this way have won an enviable reputation for carrying out their contracts.

Messrs. McElhany, Hannahs, Lon Dice and Roy Mann will make the circuit and look after the business. They will start in about a month and will be on the go the rest of the summer.

They have been in correspondence with the managers of the Lexington, Ky., race course and have assurances that they will get the privileges for the fall meet, which opens September 1st.

Charles Smith Telegraph Operator of This City, Got It in Chillicothe.

Charles Smith, a telegraph operator, who, until Monday, was in the employ of the N. & W. railway at Portsmouth, came up to this city yesterday to enjoy a vacation with friends. He got that "tired feeling" about nine o'clock yesterday evening and laid down on the steps of Memorial hall to dream of the sweet bye and bye.

While Smith was so engaged, Officer Kelly ambled in that direction and spotted the sleeping beauty from the River City. Smith was escorted to the city prison, where he remained throughout the night—Chillicothe Gazette.

The McKinley rocket went up with a great rush—the stick will come down early in November.

An honest dollar is that which will buy a dollar's worth of the necessities or luxuries of life, whether it is gold, silver or paper.

Gold organs say that the ratio between the commercial value of gold and silver is not 15 to 1, and would not become so under the free coinage of silver, because there is so much more silver than gold. This is false and misleading. It might be true if the production of gold had ceased when silver was demonetized and the production of silver had alone continued and increased from year to year; but, when the fact is known that instead of a product of 1-16 as much gold as silver since 1873, there has been produced almost as much gold as silver, not only the falsity of the statement appears, but it becomes ridiculously absurd.

There seems to be considerable sarcasm in the following from the Philadelphia Record:

"The tongue of the candidate has been untied at Canton, and the result shows how necessary was the care over this unruly member during the months which preceded the St. Louis convention. He says that the tariff is 'the primal question before the public,' and that 'the money question will right itself, provided there is a proper revenue system back of it.' Such is the unbecomingly method with which the candidate disposes of the outpourings of the treasury and of the great monetary issue of this contest. Everybody knows what a 'proper revenue system' is in the definition of McKinleyism. All the tariff beneficiaries fully understand it. Only pile up more taxes on clothing, food, medicines and all the other necessities of living, and give more subsidies and bonuses to the trusts and monopolies, and the currency may be left 'to right itself.'"

The following, from the Toledo Bee, is certainly worthy of the consideration of all who wish to become cognizant of facts:

"McKinley is nominated with a new shank for protection when the country is already provided with a 48 per cent tariff—a rate one-quarter higher than the famous Morrill war tariff! He is proclaimed as the 'advance agent of prosperity,' though the law which bore his name and the other legislation in which he participated converted a surplus into a deficiency, sent $120,000,000 of gold abroad, and produced the monetary panic, and the disastrous effects of which the country is still suffering. He proposes an increase in duties to replenish the treasury, though when in power he increased the duties and avowedly to reduce the surplus—and succeeded all to well. Twice repudiated at the polls, each time by a million majority, he again invites the judgment of the people on his narrow partisanship, his solemn humbuggery and his exploded panacea."

The Philadelphia Times, while doling around for facts, unearthed the following, which will prove interesting reading for those who think the Wilson tariff law has injured our foreign trade and increased imports. The country is the fact as shown:

"A main part of the Republican platform, as formulated at St. Louis, embodies a rhetorical attack upon the present tariff, which is represented as having 'crippled American production while stimulating foreign production for the American market.' This would indicate that the tariff has discouraged exports and increased imports. The very latest official statistics give the figures for the month of May last past, compared with the corresponding month in previous years, as follows:

Exports	Imports	Excess
1890.....$57,467,000	$70,128,000	$12,661,000
1891.....58,692,000	71,994,000	13,302,000
1892.....59,194,000	68,639,000	9,445,000
1893.....60,845,000	65,815,000	4,970,000
1894.....61,043,000	56,815,000	14,228,000
1895.....61,267,170	60,028,834	1,238,336
1896.....62,523,100	60,963,900	1,559,200

With the exception of 1894, when it was about to be repealed, the imports at this season under the McKinley law were never as small as now, and only in 1892, when the grain exports were unusually heavy, was the balance of trade so much in favor of this country. The figures of last month compared with May of 1891, under the McKinley tariff, show an increase of $8,500,000 in exports and a decrease of $15,000,000 in imports. And McKinley calls this encouraging the American markets. How would it do for him to try a little truth for a change?

SWIFT PIGEONS.

More Than a Mile Made a Minute in a Recent Trial.

Aided by a southerly wind and a perfectly clear sky, the first test of the pigeons which are to represent the first Chicago Homing club in the National federation races this year was a most notable success, says the Chicago Chronicle. The trial was remarkable in more than one feature. Two hundred and eighty-one birds, the largest number which the club has ever liberated from one racing station, made the trip, and of that number every bird was reposing peacefully in its loft by one o'clock in the afternoon. The time made by the first birds to arrive home was the fastest ever made over the course, and represents a speed of more than a mile a minute.

The birds were liberated at Monee, 42 miles away from the nearest loft, at 7:30 o'clock, and White Wings, owned by L. Verschuere, stepped back in its loft at 8:14. White Wings was closely followed by nearly half the flock, and 50 arrivals were reported between 8:15 and 8:17. Inasmuch as every bird spent at least as much as five minutes in circling before starting on a line for home, the speed shown is materially more than a mile in each 60 seconds.

As an illustration of how little even the best fanciers are able to judge of the merits of their own pets, it is interesting to note that White Wings had been considered almost worthless. Only a month ago he was flown from Sixty-first street, a distance of eight miles, to his loft, and took 10 days to make the journey. That was his first trial, and he was sent to Monee Saturday quite as much in the hope that he would be lost as for any other reason.

A HOUSEHOLD WORD.

Ludicrous Blunder Which Was Made by a Presiding Officer.

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times-Herald relates a laughable incident in the career of Mr. Tarsney, of Missouri, who was until lately a member of congress from that state, but was unseated by the house. The occurrence, it should be explained, took place some years ago, when Mr. Tarsney was not so well known as he is at present.

It was in the midst of a political campaign, and Mr. Tarsney, who had gone to New York state in the service of his party, was announced to speak in a country town. The chairman of the meeting, a local celebrity, was properly minded to give the gentleman from Missouri a handsome reception.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "we have with us to-night one of the greatest statesmen of the great west, an orator famed throughout the Mississippi valley, a gentleman whose name is to you a household word. Permit me to introduce to you Mr. Tarsney."

Here the flow of his eloquence was checked, and leaning toward the orator of the evening, he whispered: "What did you say your name was?" "Tarsney, of Missouri," whispered the orator.

"Fellow-citizens," resumed the chairman, "it is my proud pleasure to introduce to you Mr. Tarsney, of Missouri."

Two Sides to the Question.

Maternal Ancestor (profoundly shocked)—Arabella, I accidentally saw you kiss young Mr. Poludine in the hallway last night! Don't you know such a thing is highly reprehensible? Miss Arabella (flaring up)—No, I don't, mamma! I don't think it's half as bad as it is for you to kiss that deceitful Mrs. Dookins, when you know you don't like to kiss her at all!—Chicago Tribune.

The Silver Lining.

"Doesn't it annoy you, Mr. Proof-text, to have people sleep under your teaching?"

"Yes," was the reply, "it is rather humiliating, but then there is this advantage—I can preach the same sermon several Sundays in succession without the fact being recognized by the congregation."—Tit-Bits.

Proof Positive.

Wife (reading a letter from a distant friend)—How strange! Elfreda doesn't say whether her baby is a boy or a girl.

Husband—But doesn't she say it's beginning to talk?

Wife—Yes.

Husband—Then it's a girl.—Washington Evening Times.

Merely Habit.

She wrote the advertising for a large dry goods concern in town. Her mind used to run so much upon her business that one day when she wrote to her lover to meet her that night at home she unconsciously added a postscript: "Come early and avoid the rush!"—Printers' Ink.

Gentlemen—I have been using Wright's Colery Capsules since November, 1894, and find them to be as recommended. I found the Colery Capsules gave me great relief from the beginning and have used them ever since. With pleasure, and unsolicited, I recommend them to any and all suffering with like afflictions, or either of them. Very truly yours,

Prolonged derangement of the nervous system not only affects the brain and mental powers, but develops disease in some of the vital organs. The most dangerous of these indirect results is when the heart is affected. This was the case of the Rev. N. F. Surface, Fawn River, Mich., who writes under date of Feb. 14, 1895:

"Fourteen years ago I had a slight stroke of paralysis. Overwork brought on nervous prostration. I was exceedingly nervous and the exertion of public speaking caused heart palpitation that threatened my life. I used two bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine. I am now as healthy as ever. I can speak for hours without tiring or having my heart flutter as it formerly did, and I have you to thank that I am alive today."

BASE BALL GOSSIP.

Iron ton tomorrow.

Marietta has signed "Jig" Donahue, a crack catcher from Springfield.

There are those who think that second base might be covered by a better man.

The Buckshoes will be the opposing Zanesville club against the Poles on Blenheim Island, Sunday.

Gilligan, the Cincinnati short stop, has been signed by Portsmouth. He arrived on the noon C. & O. train today.

Portsmouth's players, should play with vim and vigor at all stages. Put up determined ball, even in the face of defeat. Never give up.

All athletes are not good ball players, but all good ball players are athletes. Players should think of this and take the care of themselves that will fit them for mighty struggles on diamond and on field.

The Portsmouth boys are 'load in their praises in the manner in which they were treated by the Maysvilles. The members of the club and the citizens were united in trying to make their stay pleasant and agreeable.

Deisel is a natural born player. All his people were ball players, or enthusiasts, and he has several brothers who are putting up a brilliant article of the great pastime. His mother is a student of the game. She has the finest judgment of players and plays.

The Gallipolis ball club which disbanded last Tuesday has been reorganized. The club now has twelve substantial business men behind it and it is confidently expected will be able to finish the season. Nearly all of the old club have been retained. Frank Curry is the manager of the team.

There is a weakness in several of Portsmouth's players that should be remedied, and at the earliest possible moment. The weakness consists in casting side glances at the runner as a ball is fielded. This causes fumbles and wild throws. The proper play is to field the ball, make a clean pick up and then give attention to the base runner and throw him out.

A popular ball player is not always a fast, reliable one. For that reason popularity should not be taken wholly into consideration in selecting players. The qualities that win games should be possessed. In other words, a ball player should have a good "think tank", quick motion in arms and legs and an eye that can pick the sphere for base hits.

Lever, Mayville's crack pitcher is in great demand by minor league teams. A club of the Virginia league want him at $110 per month; the San Antonio team of the Texas league are after him at $100 per month. He refuses both bids and yet he is only getting $75 per month at Mayville. But he likes the Kentucky city's people and the treatment accorded him by them. And this, you know, means a great deal.

The Cincinnati Reds form a picture in oil. Magnificent specimens of manhood, each and every one of them. Their eyes give out a lustre that speaks perfect condition. Their muscles stand out like bands of steel with perfect glow. And in their cheeks are the flags of health. All this has been brought about by scientific care and training. Every kind of food is not eaten by them, and every kind of drink is not partaken of. They are careful to avoid all things that will tend in the least to impair their superb condition.

There was once a city editor in Cincinnati who had posted above his desk the sign, "All friendship ceases at this desk." It seems to the writer that this should be the rule with base ball managers and captains. Have above the diamond and the field, if not in reality, in imagination, "All friendship ceases at these grounds." Be like Tebeau, of the Cleveland league team, who let his own brother go, for the very good reason that he couldn't play ball.

Hon. Theo. K. Funk returned from Cincinnati the other day. He said he had met Hoy, the Cincinnati center fielder, who is deaf and dumb, and that Hoy told him Portsmouth is the greatest ball city in Ohio. Colonel Doherty, who was standing near, broke in and said, "See here, Funk, if Hoy told you that he must have been in a wheel factory and picked up a hub and spoke." The Hon. Mr. Funk treated the house.

Sam Lever, leading twirler for Mayville, is attracting much attention. He has gained a reputation that is not easily shaken. One man, Base ball history shows that the pitchers who build on such a foundation don't last; they get top-heavy, go to pieces, and topple over. Go back over the ground and see the twirlers now in retirement, who once upon a time charmed the fans by striking out the heaviest batsmen. The pitcher who lasts, who improves and grows right along with the game, is not the one who strikes out the most man but the one who makes the batsmen hit the sphere.

The cigar makers and saloon keepers cross bats Monday afternoon at Athletic park. Admission, 15 cents. No extra for grand stand. Manager Joe Albert, of the cigar makers, will present the following nine: Chas. Sauter, catcher; Frank Behrens, left fielder; Will Roth, second baseman; Chas. Lombard, center fielder; Jack Phillips, pitcher; Will Brengardner, right fielder; Sherman Davis, first baseman; Henry Graeisen Jr., short stop; Dave Rider, third baseman; Henry Johnson, mascot.

SHARES FAME WITH UNCLE DOW

The True Story of Another Original and Eccentric Character Who Lived and Died at Falling Timber.

The Falling Timber region, where dwells the eccentric McKinney, is noted for producing other as original characters as the man who listened to his own funeral sermon. One of them died only a few years ago and was buried in a fence corner within sight of the spot where McKinney's funeral was preached the other day. He was the victim of as much notoriety as Dow and it was this that probably prompted McKinney to do something odd and out of the ordinary.

For obvious reasons the name of this other man, who shares with Dow some of the notoriety of Falling Timber, is not given. Suffice it to say, that he lived and was a well to do farmer of that community. Dow, or any of the old settlers around in that neighborhood, can tell you his name. He was one of the most wicked men who ever lived and was feared by all who knew him. Years before he died he had his coffin made. It was constructed on plans entirely original. It was a round affair about the size, and three times the length of a floor barrel. It was open at both ends. This for the purpose, so the man argued, of crawling out and escaping the clutches of His Satanic Majesty. As "Old Harry" came in at one end, the wicked man expected to go out at the other. The coffin was made of chestnut, a wood that crackles when put in the fire. In case the man should be taken by surprise and hurled into the eternal fire, coffin and all, he wanted to make some noise to attract the attention of his friends, who should happen to be sojourning in that region.

It was his request that he should be buried in a certain fence corner, where, once upon a time, he found a five dollar gold piece. He always had a strong attachment for the spot and kept a jug of whiskey hid there for years. Drink was finally the cause of his death, and he was found dead one night only a few steps from the spot he had picked for his burial place. All his guests were complied with, and he was buried in his barrel coffin in the fence corner. No mark was placed at his grave, but the spot is well known to all the old settlers, and often at night it is averred that one listening in the fence corner can hear the crackling of chestnut wood, as it is burning. The wicked Puckett is still going through Hades.

A POPULAR FIRM

A Few Facts and Factions That Insure Success in Business.

There is another faction that goes to make up and sustain the popularity of a firm besides first class goods, low prices and fair dealing, and while Messrs. Broadus & Ruppel possess all these, they also possess that other factor, which is congeniality. There is nothing that will knock your appetite into a cocked hat and cause the jaws of your pocket-book to close up like the jaws of an alligator on the unsuspecting fly, quicker than to go into a man's place of business and have him commence telling you how hard the times are and how dull trade is. It is a boomerang that comes back and hits the thrower. You never hear this "little tale of woe" at Broadus & Ruppel's. They always have a jolly "Hello, there!" and a word of cheer that makes you feel like buying two steaks instead of one, and eating them both yourself. Last week they bought three of the finest cattle from Sam'l Monroe that have been brought to this market for a long time. They netted 4,200 pounds. In addition to this, they bought fifteen calves, at a total cost of $97.48, besides the sheep and hogs handled. They do both a wholesale and retail business, and their business announcement will be elsewhere in this issue of the Times. In ill health for some time, in need of rest and would be found on market regularly to serve those who go there for their supplies.

An exhibition was given on Morris' lawn, near Oldtown church, on the West Side, last night under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. of this city, members of the gymnasium classes participating. The program, as rendered, is given below. It was well rendered, and the large crowd in attendance were well pleased with the entertainment. The tumbling was particularly good, and caught on with the crowd, the boys being repeatedly encouraged. The horizontal bar exercises were also very good and made a hit.

A PETITION

Being Circulated in the East End About the Gallia Street Lake.

Residents of the East End, are determined to get rid of that Gallia street lake, or pond, if there is any way to do it. Their latest move is to circulate a petition urging the state board of health to take some action in the matter. This petition sets forth that the attention of the local board of health and of other authorities has been repeatedly called to this pond, but that they have not taken any action. Therefore the petitioners request the state board to order the nuisance abated. So far, over 200 signatures have been secured.

That it is necessary to get up such a petition is a sad commentary on the authorities of this city.

AN INTERESTING STORY

Connected with the Suit of McLaughlin & Co. Against E. Augustin.

Quite an interesting story is connected with the suit of McLaughlin & Co. against E. Augustin for $365, claimed to be due on a bill, mention of which was made in Wednesday's Times. It seems that about three weeks before the Farmers' bank failed Mr. Augustin sent the firm a check on that bank for the amount. They held the check for some time, and finally when it came back to the bank here, the bank was in the hands of the government. The firm wanted a new check on some other bank. Mr. Augustin rightly refused to give one, claiming that it was through neglect that the check on the Farmers' was not paid.

"PARTY LINE"

TELEPHONE EXCHANGE SERVICE.

The CENTRAL UNION TELEPHONE COMPANY has successfully devised apparatus by means of which (without in the least impairing the efficiency of transmission) two or more subscribers' stations may be operated upon the same line or circuit, and be enabled to signal the central office, without disturbing each other. This improvement relieves "party line" service of its cost to the subscriber and makes it popular with a very large class of telephone users.

In offering this class of service for either grounded or metallic circuits, the Company aims to bring the advantages of the highest grade within the satisfactory reach of those whose requirements for telephone service are not limited, and to make its cost to the materially less than the regular rates charged for "independent-line" service.

The Company refers with perfect confidence to those of its present subscribers who are using "party line" service with this improved apparatus.

The rates for this service will be quoted upon application to the Manager, or he will be glad to call upon those who request it.

COURT HOUSE

Dolph Brase, of Sciotoville Wants a Divorce from His Wife.

Married Seven Years Ago She Deserted Him—Rev. Wilson Back to Jail—Probate Court—Few Real Estate Transfers and Marriage Licenses.

Friends of Adolph Brase, the well known Sciotoville merchant, will be surprised to hear he has gone into the courts with a divorce suit. Such, however, is the case. The petition was filed in common pleas court this morning through Bannon & Bannon. It is brief and to the point. He was married April 24, 1889. Desertion for the last three years is charged. He asks for absolute divorce and such other relief as proper. The records in the probate office show that a marriage license was issued to Mr. Brase and Amanda Black April 24, 1889. The couple were married on the same date by Rev. Badger, of this city.

He could not give security and was brought back and placed in jail. The case was heard before Justice Bennett.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

THEY ARE SORE.

The Chillicothe Republicans say Charles Groce's Stupidity Caused Sibley's Nomination.

The Chillicothe Gazette claims that at the judicial convention here it was the intention of Judge Thompson to nominate Hon. L. M. Jowett, of Athens, in preference to either Clark or Sibley. When Athens went to Clark, Mr. Thompson became enraged and changed to Sibley and used his influence to induce other delegates to change that way. The vote then according to the Gazette, stood 42 for Clark to 36 for Sibley. The Gazette says:

"The Washington delegation was using all its persuasive appeals upon the delegations of Vinton and Jackson in Sibley's behalf. Then Mr. Rose, of the Washington crowd, rushed to Hon. Charles Groce, flying his arms like a maniac and crying that Sibley had been nominated. Mr. Groce and his fellows, without knowing of Clark's strength, fell into the trap, and the six votes which had belonged to Judge Clark were now transferred to Sibley. "The stampede was now on, and when Vinton, Pike Hooking and Athens dropped into the line for Sibley, it was all over but the shouting. The delegates did not even wait for the formality of making the nomination unanimous, but struggled out of the convention hall, while the chairman gazed blankly on. He was aware that some body had been nominated, but the wheels of the political machine had turned too swiftly for him to note the revolutions.

"In this way was Judge Clark defeated, when, had the Pickaway delegation remained steadfast and true, there would have been no choice. On the next ballot, however, had Clark and Sibley been but the two contestants, it is the consensus of opinion that the former would have received preference from the convention."

You Are Invited.

He bought out the grocery business of Mr. Gutsell, deceased, on the corner of Gallia and Gay streets, and is now smiling upon his old friends over the counter. Mr. Lange is a genial and popular young man and respectfully invites you to call and see him. He has a fine stock of staple and fancy groceries and will appreciate your patronage.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Hank Has a Full House of Boarders Both Male and Female—Several Small Arrests.

The police made a raid on Anna Riddlebarger's Elm street gang Thursday night. The big woman and her lover, Fred Weber, were hauled in, and another woman named Long. A charge of adultery was filed against the Riddlebarger woman and fornication against Weber. Both pleaded not guilty and will have a trial Monday. The mayor has determined to break up the practice of men and women living together without the formality of taking out marriage licenses. Other arrests are to follow soon.

The Haller woman was released this morning and ordered to get out of town. She promised to go to Huntington. It seems, on investigation, that her father, Reed, who caused her arrest, is an old brute, and if found will be looked up and made to explain some of his wicked ways. Hammond, the man arrested with the Haller woman, was fined $10 and costs.

"Yaller" DeLozell, drunk, is working out $5 and costs.
An alleged moonshine detective named Carl Metzger was fined $5 and costs for disorderly conduct. He was arrested by Heisel and is now on the stone pile.

A steamboat man named Sturgeon, standing in front of Amann's drug store on Market street this morning somewhat under the influence of stimulants, took a header through the window. He refused to pay for the glass, and going up Second street, soon encountered more trouble, trying to fight Steph. Winkler and John Rottingham.

He was finally arrested out near the jail. A charge of drunk and disorderly will be filed against him.
William Henry Washington, a colored plasterer working on an East End house, got full of beer this afternoon and threatened to tear down a house or two. He was brought down in the patrol wagon in charge of three policemen.

The Riddlebarger woman and her friend Weber pleaded guilty to the charges against them this afternoon and were given preference of three months in the workhouse or to leave town within twenty-four hours. They promised to skip and were released.

Mary's Little Lamb.

Mary had a little lamb,
That grew to be a sheep,
And from its fleece, the maiden,
Great benefits did reap.

She had the fleece made into cloth,
Then told her numerous beaux,
That he who won her hand must have
The finest suit of clothes.

Each sought a tailor of renown,
Begged him to do his best,
And when the suit was finished, went
To Mary for the test.

Then Mary stood them in a row—
The lamb was by her side,
And both decided he had won
